Canadian Journal of Nursing Research (CJNR), Canada’s leading journal in nursing research and scholarship, invites manuscripts of interest to nurse clinicians, educators, leaders, policy makers, and researchers, as well as other health care providers. CJNR is intended to serve both Canada and the international nursing community as a forum for the dissemination and communication of nursing knowledge and research. We therefore welcome submissions of research and other scholarly work from Canadian as well as international authors.

A quarterly refereed peer-review publication, CJNR accepts quality quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-method manuscripts on a broad spectrum of topics that include but are not limited to clinical, psychosocial, biological, educational, models of care, health services, and health systems research studies. CJNR also welcomes short research reports, systematic reviews, clinical and/or conceptual papers, current issues, editorials, and commentaries that are of special interest to nursing.

Manuscripts will be acknowledged upon online submission. Each submission will be subject to initial vetting by the assigned handling editor to determine suitability of the work prior to subjecting it to blind peer-review by at least two reviewers. Authors who wish to explore the suitability of their work to the journal are encouraged to precede the submission with an email to the Editor-in-Chief at melmasri@uwindsor.ca with a description of the manuscript (please include an abstract).

The following guidelines are designed to assist authors with the manuscript preparation and submission process. Manuscripts that do not conform to these guidelines will be returned to authors without further review; until revised by authors and deemed ready for peer-review.

Manuscript Preparation Guidelines:

General Requirements:

The submitted manuscript, including the abstract, Tables, and reference list must be double-spaced, left-justified with one-inch (2.54CMs) margins, and shall be typed using size 12 Arial font. Authors are encouraged to avoid the inclusion of appendices in all submissions (except in the rare situation in which the appendix is deemed indispensable). All pages, including the title page and reference list shall be numbered using Arabic numerals. Include a short title (4 words maximum) as a header in all pages; including the title page for the purposes of double-blind peer-review The entire manuscript shall be prepared according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA Style Manual 6th Edition). All listed references must match all citation in the text; and shall conform to the APA writing manual (6th Edition).

All manuscripts will be considered for publication on the understanding that they have not been published or submitted elsewhere, and are submitted solely to CJNR. Authors of manuscripts that are accepted for publication will be asked to review galleys after copy editing and before publication.
Please refer to the information and guidance on how best to title your manuscript, write your abstract, and select your keywords by visiting the SAGE Journal Author Gateway for guidelines on “How to Help Readers Find Your Manuscript Online”

Title Page:
A stand-alone title page must include the title of the manuscript, the authors' names, credentials, professional affiliations, and email address. The corresponding author shall provide additional contact information that includes his/her business telephone number and current mailing address.

Abstract:
The abstract shall be written on a separate page and must not exceed 200 words. Research Abstracts shall be structured with headings that include the study background, purpose, methods, results, and conclusions. Non-research abstracts shall be presented in the form of 1-2 unstructured paragraphs.

Keywords:
Provide 3-6 keywords to highlight the main concepts and focus of your manuscript

Main Text: Prepare the manuscript according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA Style Manual 6th Edition). Double-space everything, including references, quotations, tables, and figures. Please refer to the specific guidelines below for instructions on the expected headings of your manuscripts.

Tables & Figures: Tables and Figures shall not be embedded in the main text of the manuscript. Rather, they shall be submitted on separate pages/files. They shall be limited to 3 each; only to illustrate information that is not sufficiently presented in the main text. They shall be prepared using simple text files such as Microsoft word or excel.

Reference List: Shall be limited to two pages only

For additional information, see Manuscript Submission Guidelines at the SAGE Journal Author Gateway website.

Specific Guidelines

1. Research & Research Methods Manuscripts

Research manuscripts are original reports on findings of primary or secondary studies that are specific to the advancement of evidence-based nursing practice and/or knowledge. Research manuscripts may be specific to knowledge generation, knowledge testing, and knowledge dissemination and translation. All research submissions that involve human subjects shall provide a statement indicating clearance for the conduct of research by a Research Ethics Board or an Institutional Review Board.

Research manuscripts may be:

Original Research Reports: (Maximum 12-16 double-spaced pages of main text):
These are manuscripts that report original research findings with the purpose of advancing nursing knowledge and practice in the areas of (1) direct nursing care of individuals, families, communities, and populations, (2) leadership, (3) education and professional development, (4) models of nursing care, (5) health services and health systems, and (6) health policy. CJNR equally values and welcomes high quality quantitative, qualitative, and mixed methods research that informs nursing in Canada and/or around the globe. Main text of original research reports is limited to 12 double space pages for quantitative manuscripts or 16 pages for qualitative and mixed methods manuscripts (excluding the cover page, abstract, Tables, and Reference list).

Research Methods: (Maximum 12 double-spaced pages of main text)

These are scholarly manuscripts that address important issues pertaining to the planning, design, implementation, and dissemination of research in nursing with the intention of enhancing nursing knowledge about research methodology and data analysis. These manuscripts are aimed to provide an in-depth discussion of issues that may negatively or positively influence the planning and conduct of nursing research. Lessons learned from the planning and conduct of major research studies are also welcomed in this section.

Systematic Reviews: (Maximum 12 double-spaced pages of main text)

These manuscripts mostly pertain to meta-analysis studies that one conducts to provide an in-depth and comprehensive evaluation of the common effect of a given research outcome. Narrative research literature reviews are also welcome.

Nursing Measurement: (Maximum 10 double-spaced pages of main text)

Manuscripts pertaining to the development and psychometric evaluation (i.e., reliability and validity) of measures used to quantify abstract concepts.

Quality Improvement: (Maximum 10 double-spaced pages of main text)

Although not strictly research, CJNR welcomes reports on quality improvement projects with a special interest to nursing.

The main text of all research and research methodology manuscripts is expected to conform to the following headings:

- Background & Purpose:
  This section shall provide clear highlight of the relevance and significance of the study for nursing. It shall also highlight the problem statement leading to the research and clearly indicate the purpose(s) of the research.

- Methods and Procedures:
  This section shall provide clear description of the study design, setting and sample, protection of human subjects, data collection procedures, and data analysis procedures.

- Results:
  This section shall present the main results of the study.

- Discussion:
  General discussion of the study findings; including study recommendations and limitations.
• Conclusion:
  - This section shall synthesize the main conclusions and the readers’ take home message

II. Clinical Practice & Theoretical Manuscripts (Maximum 10 double-spaced pages of main text)

Clinical practice manuscripts are scholarly non-research based manuscripts that communicate initiatives and experiences specific to advancing and evaluating excellence in nursing practice. Clinical practice manuscripts should provide insight on current clinical practice and policy issues, and draw clear conclusions and implications for nursing practice. Theoretical manuscripts communicate scholarly discussion of conceptual and theoretical foundations in nursing and explore the implications of such foundations to nursing research and practice. Clinical practice and conceptual manuscripts include, but may not be limited to, clinical case studies, reviews, brief clinical reports, concept mapping, concept analysis, and special topics of current nursing issues.

The main text of non-research clinical or theoretical manuscripts shall not exceed 10 double-spaced pages using a 12 font size and is expected to conform to the following headings:

- Introduction
- Relevance to Nursing Practice
- Methods and Procedures
- Discussion
- Implications for Nursing

III. Short Editorials & Commentaries:

CJNR welcomes scholarly editorials, letters to the editor, and commentaries that are intended to generate a healthy debate over important standard or current issues affecting nursing research and practice. These are precise writings (maximum 800 words long) that are subject to review and approval by the Editor-in-Chief.

Submitting manuscripts

Please submit manuscripts to: http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/CJNR

Publication Ethics

SAGE and CJNR are committed to upholding the integrity of the academic record. We encourage authors to refer to the Committee on Publication Ethics’ International Standards for Authors and view the Publication Ethics page on the SAGE Author Gateway. These guidelines conform to the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals from the International Council of Medical Journal Editors (www.icmje.org).
Plagiarism

_Canadian Journal of Nursing Research_ and SAGE take issues of copyright infringement, plagiarism or other breaches of best practice in publication very seriously. We seek to protect the rights of our authors and we always investigate claims of plagiarism or misuse of published manuscripts. Equally, we seek to protect the reputation of the journal against malpractice. Submitted manuscripts may be checked with duplication-checking software. Where an manuscript, for example, is found to have plagiarized other work or included third-party copyright material without permission or with insufficient acknowledgement, or where the authorship of the manuscript is contested, we reserve the right to take action including, but not limited to: publishing an erratum or corrigendum (correction); retracting the manuscript; taking up the matter with the head of department or dean of the author's institution and/or relevant academic bodies or societies; or taking appropriate legal action.

Case Studies/Reports

Clinical and procurement case studies should include an unidentifiable patient profile with a history of the disease and clinical problems. A discussion of clinical management should describe the flow of events followed by a summary that includes the outcome. Application of knowledge gained from this problem should be addressed. Patient or family consent is required for the publication of case studies. A written copy of consent must be submitted prior to publication and will be kept on file with the publisher and editor.

Protection of Patients’ Rights to Privacy

Patient privacy must be protected in publishing. Identifying details should be avoided unless the information is essential to scientific understanding and the patient or family has given written informed consent. Include a signed statement of informed consent to publish (in print and online) case reports, patient descriptions, photographs, and pedigrees from all persons (parents or legal guardians for minors) who can be identified in such written case reports, descriptions, photographs, or pedigrees. Such persons should be given an opportunity to read the manuscript before its submission. Authors must provide a statement in the manuscript about obtaining informed consent for case reports.

Research papers should include a statement of the problem being studied followed by a review of the literature, methodology, results, discussion, and conclusions. All research involving human subjects must address IRB (institutional review board) approval or exemption. Informed consent for research participation must be stated in the methods section.

Research

_Canadian Journal of Nursing Research_ endorses the Consolidated Standards of Reporting Trials (CONSORT) which provides researchers with a standardized method for reporting clinical trials. A 25 item checklist for preparing research reports is available at www.consort-statement.com. Authors preparing manuscripts for CJNR are encouraged to follow these guidelines in reporting RCT research findings.
Funding

Canadian Journal of Nursing Research requires all authors to acknowledge their funding in a consistent fashion under a separate heading. Please visit the Funding Acknowledgements page on the SAGE Journal Author Gateway (https://us.sagepub.com/en-us/nam/page/journal-author-gateway) to confirm the format of the acknowledgment text in the event of funding, or state that: This research received no specific grant from any funding agency in the public, commercial, or not-for-profit sectors.

Authorship Requirements

All persons listed as authors must have (1) participated sufficiently in the work to take public responsibility for the content; (2) made substantial contributions to the conception and design or analysis and interpretation of data, and to drafting the manuscript or revising it critically for important intellectual content; and (3) given final approval of the version of the manuscript to be published.

Authors must certify (1) that the manuscript consists of original work and does not copy or otherwise infringe on the copyright or other proprietary rights of others; (2) that all necessary permissions for borrowed material have been obtained, copies of which will be submitted; and (3) that authorization has been obtained, and will be submitted if requested, to disclose any identifiable or potentially identifiable private health information of patients.

Acknowledgements

All contributors who do not meet the criteria for authorship should be listed in an Acknowledgements section. Examples of those who might be acknowledged include a person who provided purely technical help, or a department chair who provided only general support.

Writing assistance

Individuals who provided writing assistance, e.g. from a specialist communications company, do not qualify as authors and so should be included in the Acknowledgements section. Authors must disclose any writing assistance – including the individual’s name, company and level of input – and identify the entity that paid for this assistance”.

English language editing services

Authors seeking assistance with English language editing, translation, or figure and manuscript formatting to fit the journal’s specifications should consider using SAGE Language Services. Visit SAGE Language Services on our Journal Author Gateway for further information.

It is not necessary to disclose use of language polishing services.

ORCID

As part of our commitment to ensuring an ethical, transparent and fair peer review process SAGE is a supporting member of ORCID, the Open Researcher and Contributor ID. ORCID provides a unique and persistent digital identifier that distinguishes researchers from every other researcher, even those who share the same name, and, through integration in key research workflows such as manuscript and grant submission, supports automated linkages between researchers and their professional activities, ensuring that their work is recognized.

The collection of ORCID IDs from corresponding authors is now part of the submission process of this journal. If you already have an ORCID ID you will be asked to associate that to your submission during the online submission process. We also strongly encourage all co-authors to link their ORCID ID to their accounts in our online peer review platforms. It takes seconds to do: click the link when prompted, sign into your ORCID account and our systems are automatically updated. Your ORCID ID will become part of your accepted publication’s metadata, making your work attributable to you and only you. Your ORCID ID is published with your article so that fellow researchers reading your work can link to your ORCID profile and from there link to your other publications.

If you do not already have an ORCID ID please follow this link to create one or visit our ORCID homepage to learn more.

Copyright Transfer and Disclosure

Authors submitting manuscripts do so on the understanding that the work has not been published before, is not being considered for publication elsewhere, and has been read and approved by all authors. The submission of the manuscript by the authors means that the authors automatically agree to assign Exclusive License to Publish, when the manuscript is accepted for publication.

Authors will be expected to disclose any affiliation with or financial involvement with any organization or entity with a financial interest in the subject matter or materials discussed in the manuscript. Authors will be expected to certify that all financial and material support for the research and work is clearly identified in the manuscript.

At the time copyedited galley proofs are sent to authors for review, authors will be asked to sign a statement attesting to the above provisions by completing and submitting the Exclusive License to Publish.

Open access and author archiving

Canadian Journal of Nursing Research offers optional open access publishing via the SAGE Choice program. For more information please visit the SAGE Choice website. For information on funding body compliance, and depositing your manuscript in repositories, please visit SAGE Publishing Policies on our Journal Author Gateway.

On acceptance and Publication

SAGE Production: Your SAGE Production Editor will keep you informed as to your manuscript’s progress throughout the production process. Proofs will be sent by PDF to the corresponding author and should be returned promptly.

Access to your Published Manuscript: SAGE provides authors with online access to their final manuscript.
Online First Publication: Online First allows final revision manuscripts (completed manuscripts in queue for assignment to an upcoming issue) to be published online prior to their inclusion in a final journal issue which significantly reduces the lead time between submission and publication. For more information please visit our Online First Fact Sheet.
