

CALL FOR PAPERS: Citizenship, Social and Economics Education (CSEE)

The Editor and Editorial Board invite submissions to the journal of articles whose subject matter falls within the aims and scope of Citizenship, Social and Economics Education.

CSEE provides a focus for scholarly and professional studies in the fields of education, socialisation, curriculum development and aspects of economics, sociology, politics and social psychology.

CSEE is the official journal of the International Association for Citizenship, Social and Economics Education.

Citizenship, Social and Economics Education seeks to receive:

- Academic articles of about 7,000 words
- Interchanges and responses to articles, up to 2,000 words
- Thematic reviews (no word limit)
- Book reviews up to 1,000 words

All contributions should be original and should not be under consideration elsewhere. Authors should be aware that they are writing for an international audience and should use non-discriminatory language.

Submission and referee procedure

Authors are strongly advised to consult recent issues of CSEE before submitting articles.

Articles proposed for publication in an open issue should be sent to: Dr Cathy Fagan, Editor: c.fagan@educ.gla.ac.uk

All submissions to the journal are peer-refereed in accordance with international academic standards for research publication. As all articles are refereed anonymously, please attach a separate page with your name, affiliation, email and postal address.

Articles must be accompanied with an abstract of about 100 words and up to 6 keywords along with a short author biography.

If you have any questions or require further information, please contact the Editor, Cathy Fagan (c.fagan@educ.gla.ac.uk) and to submit a manuscript or find out more about the journal, visit: <http://cse.sagepub.com/>
