2020 Journal Impact Factor: 3.276

SAGE announces the search for a new Editor of Journal of Career Assessment. Transition to the new Editorial leadership would commence on July 1, 2022.

Over the last 25 years, the Journal of Career Assessment has provided methodologically sound, empirically based studies focusing on assessment, career development, and vocational psychology. Regarding assessment, the journal covers the various techniques, tests, inventories, rating scales, interview schedules, surveys, and direct observational methods used in scientifically based practice and research to provide an improved understanding of career decision-making. Regarding career development and vocational psychology, the journal covers all topics falling under each of these areas, especially those from a psychological perspective that have career counseling implications.

Applicants should send a letter of interest with an attached copy of their CV to Danielle Bath, Publishing Editor, at danielle.bath@sagepub.com by March 15, 2022. Please put "JCA Editor Application" in the email subject line.
