

Vikalpa: The Journal for Decision Makers

CALL FOR PAPERS

(Virtual) Special Issue on COVID-19

Editor-in-Chief:

Joshy Jacob, Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad, India

Special issue publication date: November 2020

Manuscript Submission Deadline: 31 August 2020

ISSN: 0256-0909
4 issues per year

The outbreak of COVID-19 has strongly disrupted the healthcare, economic, and social systems in most countries. We are yet to comprehend the short and long-term consequences of the pandemic. The special issue of Vikalpa will publish early research on the impact of COVID-19. The special issue welcomes research papers, best practices, and perspective articles related to COVID-19. We strongly believe that the special issue will offer a deeper understanding of the rapidly unravelling impact of COVID-19 on organisations in India.

Potential themes include, but are not limited to:

- Labour law reforms and impact on worker rights and productivity
- Macro-economic challenges for India
- Impact on MSMEs and government stimulus
- Supply chain disruptions and the significance of local self-reliance
- Impact on household finances
- Work from home and other employee challenges
- Farm produce market disruptions and farmer livelihood
- Variations in COVID-19 management across Indian states
- Impact on migrant worker livelihood
- Perspectives on livelihood versus life
- Psychological well-being and lockdown

Manuscripts submitted must be original, unpublished works not concurrently under review for publication. The manuscript is expected to follow the standard submission guidelines for the journal. Submissions through e-mail will not be processed for review. When submitting your manuscript, please ensure you select this special issue from the relevant drop down menu at Step 5 of the submission process.

The submission guidelines are here: <https://journals.sagepub.com/author-instructions/VIK>

Manuscripts must be submitted online at <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/vik>

Visit our Website for information: <https://journals.sagepub.com/home/vik>

For any questions please contact: vikalpa@iima.ac.in

Note: Papers not accepted for the special issue may be considered for publication in a regular issue.